Internship in Investment Banking at Goldman Sachs, New York, NY
Summer 2021

This summer I interned in Investment Banking at Goldman Sachs in the Structured Finance group. I had a wonderful time living in New York City and heading to the office each morning. I got to work on the Consumer and Transportation pods and saw a variety of deals occur in each team. My summer internship culminated in a final project where I put together an excel model and slide deck of my own capital structure of debt issued using triple net leases as collateral. I even got to use material that I learned in my coding classes at Dartmouth, like machine learning, in my project. Thank you so much to the Byrne family for the opportunity and support in allowing me to learn about finance. I truly enjoyed the experience and am very, very appreciative. Thank you!
